IN RE: HIGH-TECH EMPLOYEE
 ANTITRUST LITIGATION
 THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO:

Master Docket No. 11-CV-2509-LHK

CLASS ACTION

DECLARATION OF KELLY M. DERMODY
 IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' MOTION
 FOR ATTORNEYS' FEES,
 REIMBURSEMENT OF EXPENSES AND SERVICE AWARDS

1 I, Kelly M. Dermody, declare:

2 1. I am an attorney licensed to practice in the Northern District of California. I am a 3 partner at the firm of Lief Cabraser Heimann & Bernstein, LLP (“LCHB”), Co-Lead Counsel for 4 the Class Representatives and the Class. I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein
5 and could competently testify to them if called as a witness.

6 2. I am a member in good standing of the bar of the State of California; the United 7 States District Court for the Northern District of California; the United States District Court for 8 the Central District of California; the United States District Court for the District of Colorado; the 9 United States Courts of Appeals for the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, and Ninth 10 Circuits; and the United States Supreme Court.

11 LCHB Staffing in this Case

12 3. As the partner managing this case at LCHB from May 2012 onward, I paid 13 considerable attention to ensuring that each LCHB partner on the file had specific areas of focus; 14 that there was not duplication of efforts, especially among higher billers; and that projects were 15 assigned to experienced lawyers with depth in the field who could effectively and efficiently 16 execute the phenomenal amount of work this case demanded, as follows:

17 4. I asked partner Richard Heimann, LCHB’s foremost trial lawyer, to lead our trial
18 efforts as trial first chair. In the course of discovery, Richard then selected key senior executives 19 who we anticipated would undoubtedly be on our trial witness list for depositions he would first 20 chair. Our LCHB lawyer team was cognizant of the need to provide Mr. Heimann with hot 21 documents and key evidence for him to construct a trial plan. Mr. Heimann has spent much of his 22 professional career in front of a jury, beginning as a public defender and then becoming an 23 assistant district attorney, before joining LCHB. Mr. Heimann has successfully tried over 50 civil 24 jury cases, highlighted most recently in this District in Gutierrez v. Wells Fargo Bank, No. C 07-
25 05923 WHA (N.D. Cal.) ($203 million verdict), and In re TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) Antitrust
26 Litigation, MDL No. 1827 (N.D. Cal.) (trial verdict against one defendant of $87 million and 27 settlements totaling over $470 million). Mr. Heimann received a California Lawyer Attorney of 28 the Year (“CLAY”) award for his efforts in both cases.

1 5. I asked partner Brendan Glackin, as LCHB’s senior most subject matter expert in 2 antitrust law on the case, to run point on the antitrust conspiracy and impact work, including the 3 expert work of Dr. Edward Leamer, and the development of the motion for class certification, 4 which relied heavily on a mastery of antitrust law and statistical proof. Mr. Glackin was the 5 central lawyer in the middle of all counsel or expert statistical work, first chairing all related 6 expert depositions, and managing all briefing related to expert statistical opinions. He first 7 chaired the argument at both class certification hearings. Prior to joining LCHB in 2008, Mr.
8 Glackin worked as an associate at Boies, Schiller & Flexner focusing on antitrust matters, and 9 also worked as a Deputy Public Defender for Contra Costa County where he tried over twenty 10 cases to juries. At LCHB, he is a key member of our Antitrust Practice Group where his most 11 recent work includes serving on the trial team in the In re TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) antitrust
12 litigation and representing the Charles Schwab family of funds and companies in the In re LIBOR
13 rate manipulation case. Mr. Glackin leads LCHB’s day-to-day work in the In re Lithium Ion
14 Batteries antitrust litigation, as he did in TFT-LCD. In addition to working on numerous other 15 antitrust matters, Mr. Glackin is Co-Chair of the Executive Committee of the Antitrust Section of 16 the Bar Association of San Francisco; he also teaches trial advocacy for the National Institute of 17 Trial Advocacy (“NITA”) and the Practicing Law Institute (PLI). He is a frequent speaker and 18 panelist on antitrust issues.

19 6. As the senior most subject matter expert on employment issues and compensation 20 structures, I ran point on developing compensation system evidence. This included identifying 21 key documents in discovery, developing common deposition questions for compensation and 22 human resources witnesses, identifying deponents, taking fact depositions on compensation
23 issues, working with Mr. Glackin on the development of statistical evidence from compensation 24 and recruiting databases (common to employment class actions), and identifying, retaining, and 25 running point on the expert work of compensation expert Kevin Hallock and his defense expert 26 counterparts. I also led settlement efforts for LCHB and was involved in all major briefs and 27 filings of any kind with the Court. My relevant background includes over 20 years of 28 employment class action experience at LCHB, where I have also led or co-led at least 15 class

1 actions challenging compensation for, or hiring of, employees. I serve as Managing Partner of 2 LCHB's San Francisco office and chair LCHB's Employment Practice Group, which recently 3 was named a "2015 Litigation Department of the Year" from The Recorder. I am a member of 4 the ABA Labor and Employment Section governing Council, and have served as co-chair of the 5 Section's Annual Conference, Committee on Diversity in the Legal Profession, and Equal 6 Employment Opportunity Committee. I was President of the Bar Association of San Francisco in 7 2011-2012.

8 7. I assigned partner Dean Harvey, an antitrust litigation specialist, to run point on 9 working with our clients on all aspects of the case, day-to-day discovery issues, and developing 10 the plan and drafting (in conjunction with others) major briefs. Mr. Harvey was involved in 11 virtually every aspect of the case, and first or second chaired almost every one of the vast number 12 of discovery meet and confers. Mr. Harvey was frequently Plaintiffs' main point of contact with 13 Defendants' counsel regarding discovery issues and joint filings (such as the many joint discovery 14 reports and joint case management conference statements). Mr. Harvey first chaired several key 15 depositions, defended two depositions of the class representatives, participated in the preparation, 16 defending or taking of several expert depositions, and second chaired the depositions of the most 17 critical fact witnesses, including Sergei Brin, Bill Campbell, Ed Catmull, Tim Cook, George 18 Lucas, Larry Page, and Eric Schmidt. Mr. Harvey was the "front lines" person for assembling 19 and marshalling the enormous factual and expert record presented in support of class certification 20 and opposing summary judgment. Mr. Harvey also shared responsibility with Ms. Shaver for the 21 document review projects of all class counsel firms. Prior to my time on the file, it is my 22 understanding that Mr. Harvey was the initial point of contact for the clients, ran the pre-filing
23 investigation of the case, and drafted the initial complaints. As part of this work, he investigated 24 and interviewed a wide number of potential labor market experts and worked with Defendants on 25 the plan for initial disclosures and early discovery responses. Prior to LCHB, Mr. Harvey was an 26 associate at Boies, Schiller & Flexner, LLP, where he focused on antitrust and class action
27 litigation, a law clerk for the Honorable James V. Selna of the Central District of California, and a 28 law clerk for the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice. Mr. Harvey

1 publishes and speaks frequently on antitrust and class action issues, including the antitrust 2 treatment of employee poaching, the Class Action Fairness Act, concurrent antitrust criminal and 3 civil proceedings, arbitration provisions, standard setting organizations, California class action
4 practice and procedures, and recent developments in antitrust law. Mr. Harvey's 2006 article,
5 "Anticompetitive Social Norms as Antitrust Violations," published in the California Law Review, 6 received the William E. Swope Antitrust Writing Prize. In 2013, The Recorder recognized Mr.
7 Harvey as one of 50 attorneys in California "whose early accomplishments indicate they will be 8 tomorrow's top lawyers and leaders." He is currently Vice-Chair of the American Bar 9 Association Section of Antitrust Law Business Torts & Civil RICO Committee.

10 8. I assigned partner Anne Shaver, while she was still a senior associate, to run point 11 on document review for our voluminous class certification record and trial, as well as to manage 12 the deposition defense work of our named plaintiffs. Ms. Shaver (or when she was not available, 13 Mr. Harvey) chaired weekly meetings with attorneys across the co-counsel firms who were 14 responsible for reviewing documents to ensure that key evidence was efficiently gathered, that 15 important new information (e.g., jargon or witnesses) was broadly shared with reviewers, and that 16 there was a mechanism of quality control through communication and feedback. Given her 17 extensive work with employee clients and employee depositions, Ms. Shaver trained all attorneys 18 scheduled to prepare and defend named plaintiffs' depositions on the likely areas of questioning 19 and hot spots for examination. She also first chaired four fact witness depositions, and second 20 chaired several others. Prior to LCHB, Ms. Shaver served as law clerk to the Honorable Betty B.
21 Fletcher of the United States Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, and served as a death penalty law 22 clerk in the Contra Costa County Public Defender's Office. She is currently a member of the 23 coordinating committee of the ABA's Equal Employment Opportunity Committee. She has been 24 recognized as a "Rising Star for Northern California" by Super Lawyers for each of the past three 25 years.

Out-Of-Pocket Costs Incurred By Class Counsel

3 9. To advance this litigation, Class Counsel incurred costs totaling $4,884,655.29
4 from inception to date. Due to reimbursements of costs totaling $3,699,844.31 through the earlier
5 settlement with LucasFilm, Pixar, and Intuit, the remaining unreimbursed costs for the case up 6 through May 1, 2015 are $1,184,810.98. Those costs consisted of expenses submitted to the joint 7 litigation fund of Class Counsel (the “Litigation Fund”, which Class Counsel supported through 8 periodic contributions) as well as costs paid separately by LCHB, as set forth below, and by the 9 other Class Counsel firms as set forth in their declarations.

10 10. The Litigation Fund was designed to pay common external costs, such as expert 11 fees, court reporting and videographer expenses for depositions, and vendor fees for our 12 electronic platform for review and storage of documents produced in the course of discovery.
13 LCHB has maintained records and accounting for the Litigation Fund since it was established 14 early in the case.

15 11. In total, LCHB contributed $1,998,386.67 to the Litigation Fund. In addition, 16 LCHB paid an additional $399,142.79 for certain expenses that were not paid for by the 17 Litigation Fund, including certain expert, database, and other common costs incurred prior to the 18 establishment of the Litigation Fund, as well as LCHB-specific costs such as electronic computer 19 research, document printing and copying, faxing and mailing charges, telephone service, case-
20 related travel for Plaintiffs, experts, and witnesses, and other necessary expenses. These expenses
21 are summarized in a chart provided in Exhibit 1. The expenses incurred by the Litigation Fund 22 are summarized in a chart provided in Exhibit 2.

23 12. The detail of LCHB-specific costs are provided in Exhibit 3.

24 13. Invoices are provided as follows. Exhibit 4 collects invoices from experts and 25 economic consultants. Exhibit 5 collects invoices from mediators. Exhibit 6 collects invoices
26 regarding depositions (reporters, videographers, and transcripts). Exhibit 7 collects invoices 27 regarding Class Counsel’s document review platform. Exhibit 8 collects remaining invoices and 28 receipts, such as computer research, printing costs, and travel expenses.

1 firm's total lodestar for these hours amounts to $11,476,957.50. This reflects time recorded
2 contemporaneously for work completed, consistent with LCHB's Firm Policy Manual "Time-3 Keeping Policy" that requires timekeepers to keep time sheets on a daily basis, and to submit 4 them by the close of each business week. LCHB's accounting department runs a regular time
5 report that lists timekeepers without time in the system for any given week. I am provided that 6 report and personally follow up with tardy attorney timekeepers, and instruct staff managers to 7 follow up with any tardy attorney staff. The firm does not abide late timekeeping, and we advise 8 employees, "Failure to comply with the Firm's timekeeping policy may be taken into account in 9 connection with promotions, raises, and bonuses, and may subject the delinquent timekeeper to 10 discipline, up to and including termination."

11 20. Attached hereto as Exhibit 12 is the complete detail time for the work performed 12 in this case. Redactions have been made where necessary to protect attorney-client privilege, the 13 names of class members, documents or filings that are confidential and under seal, or undisclosed 14 work product (such as consultation with a non-testifying expert).

15 21. The rates set forth in Exhibit 11 are my firm's current billing rates and are 16 supported by the extensive and specialized experience in these types of cases and recognized 17 expertise described. Our rate structure has been paid to our firm by hourly-paying clients. In 18 addition, our rate structure has been approved by numerous Courts. See, e.g., Brazil v. Dell Inc.,
